Letter from The President

Dear Members,

We are all looking forward to having our first Chapter event in, what seems like a very long time. We hope you can join us at this year's fourth annual Clay Shoot & BBQ on Thursday, October 22nd at the Lehigh Valley Sporting Clays. Sign up today as an individual or team of 4! The registration form can be found on page 4. If you would like to sponsor the event, you still have time. The deadline to sponsor is October 9th, please complete the form on page 5 if you are interested.

If you haven't heard, the ISEE's 47th Annual Conference on Explosives and Blasting Technique has been cancelled. The Board came to this decision after considerable research into the viability of hosting a quality conference under the prevailing conditions. Despite not having a live conference, the ISEE has developed a four-part webinar to help industry professionals earn refresher hours. Alabama, Colorado, Delaware, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Montana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Wyoming and West Virginia have all approved the ISEE Blasters Training 2020. A live question and answer session and a series of short quizzes will follow each presentation. Attendees seeking credit hours must score 75 percent or better to earn a training certificate. Check out the full line up of speakers on page 7.

Finally, we are working with the ISEE Student Chapter at Penn State University to set up a virtual joint Chapter meeting. Stay tuned for information.

We hope to see you later this month at the Clay Shoot & BBQ!

Best regards,

Scott

CONFINEMENT IS THE KEY

Rocklock Stemming Plugs Help Increase Blasting Safety & Improve Fragmentation

Rocklock Stemming Plugs are expressly designed to create confinement and eliminate the venting of explosive gasses. This stemming-filled, high-tensile-strength sphere prevents stemming ejection by absorbing and equalizing the pressure field across the borehole.

The Benefits of Using Rocklock Stemming Plugs:

1. Realize improved blasting safety by reducing stemming ejection and potential flyrock
2. Enhance blast performance and improve fragmentation
3. Help to prevent inner deck movement and gas migration
- On applications where decking is used to control vibration
4. Achieve better cap rock fragmentation
- Rocklock enables the explosive to be loaded higher into the borehole

For the Best Blast, Count on Rocklock.

The All New Explosives: The Power Tool Is Here

For almost every product we use, explosives likely had a hand in making them available for us and our families. Oil for the energy we use, metal for the cars we drive and medicines we consume are all made possible because of explosives and 200 years of explosives innovations.

Learn about the history of explosives and the technical advancements that have made the ultimate power tool in the all new Explosives: The Power Tool movie available now for streaming or purchase.

Created by Institute of Makers of Explosives (IME) and the International Society of Explosives Engineers (ISEE) and sponsored by Nobel Insurance, this 56 minute video features seven chapters tackling explosives statistics; history; products; technology; careers; safety and security; and the environment.

The name Explosives: The Power Tool may sound familiar. First developed in 1969 and originally titled Tools for Progress, Explosives: The Power Tool was last revised in 2007. The original vision was eventually expanded and a new version launched in 2017. Many manufacturers, distributors, and users of explosives provided extraordinary access to their operations and personnel, allowing the viewer with an inside look at the commercial explosives industry.

Watch the streaming version of Explosives: The Power Tool or to buy a copy of the DVD, visit www.isee.org.
